

Shut up!

The rules

Inside the box

- 110 x Statements
- 120 x Punchlines
- 30 x Shut up

Before each game, put all Shut up cards in the dispenser!

→ Everyone grabs a Punchline card.

It contains 4 bubbles with 4 different punchlines. Read them secretly.

→ Designate the player who will read the statements!

They take enough Statement cards to read a different bubble to each of the other players.

3-4 players : 1 card    5-7 : 2 cards    8-10 : 3 cards

Start the first round!

The player reading the statements is addressing another by calling them by their first name, then reads a bubble aloud:

Instantly, the other player replies with the best available punchline of their card!

John...
I want to spread happiness around me!

That's borderline stupidity!

If the player who read the statement thinks that the punchline isn't strong enough, they can immediately take 1 SHUT UP card from the dispenser and give it to the player involved.

Shut up, John!

The round continues with 1 different statement for each player.

At the end of the round, the person who read the statements must have given at least 1 SHUT UP to another person, otherwise...

...IT BACKFIRES!

And they take 1 SHUT UP card.

The game continues.

The person to the left of the person who just read the statement grabs new Statement cards and starts a new round.

➔ However, each of the other players keeps their Punchline card.

- The same punchline can never be used twice.
- You must use the 4 punchlines of your card before changing.

End of game

The game ends when the Shut up card dispenser is empty!

The person who got the least "Shut up" cards won the right to show off and roll around on the ground juggling with fresh zucchini.

A word from the authors

It's time to wield your wit and be that pompous schmuk you were always meant to be. Shut Up is a shame-free zone for letting out that inner provocative mess you've been repressing for too long!

With the assistance of our snappy comebacks, Shut Up gives you the opportunity to show your friends and family the wise-ass you really are...
